Briefs.

—The hay market is quite lively at the present time.

—Oyster supper at Cannon's hall to-night—only 25 cents.

—Wisconsin Lodge No. 14, I. O. O. F., occupy Old Fellows hall this evening.

—The independent cavalry assemble for a business meeting at the Bower City Rifles' armory this evening.

—Prof. Severance's dancing school at Apollo hall was attended last evening by a large number of young people.

—No. 2's dance to-morrow night at Apollo hall. Smith & Corlies orchestra furnish the music, and Carter & Eastman the supper.

—Badger Council No. 223, Royal Arcanum, hold a regular semi-monthly meeting this evening—Lodge room in Luppia's block.

—A letter from Mr. H. S. Hogoboom says that his wife arrived in camp last Wednesday, after a two days' ride over the mountains on horseback. She was well, although exhausted by the journey.

—The Oskosh Northwestern:—There have been 105 adoon licenses paid for in the city this year. Each license cost $75. It has been predicted that there will be 150 next year unless the price is raised to $200.

—Mr. H. B. Dow, of Cooksville, this county, was on the Little Rock railroad train which was robbed on last Saturday and was relieved of five hundred dollars. The robbers succeeded in capturing about $6,000 in all.

—The finest display of rich jewelry, diamonds, watches, etc., is at F. C. Cook & Co's, the west side jewelry store, where they are bound to carry the cream stock of jewelry in this city, and second to none in the state.

—The indications are that the dance of Water Watch engine company No. 2, which takes place to-morrow evening in Apollo hall, will be largely attended. There will be accommodations for all, and the managers will see that all are made welcome.

—Among the many fine holiday displays in this city, the one made by Stearns & Baker, the druggists, is the finest we have seen, and the prices marked on the goods is a surprise to everyone, they are so low. The line embraces ladies' plush work-boxes, comb and brush sets, corsets, cut glass bottles, jewel cases, perfume, etc. Drop in and see the display; it will pay anyone looking for presents.

—The Jersey case of the state against Richard Barry is still on trial in the municipal court before a jury consisting of Messrs. John Galbraith, Charles Tarrant, A. M. Pratt, Charles Bowerman, John Gowdy, Alfred Dewey, J. W. Carpenter, Paul Radolph, E. F. Pierson, J. J. LeGrange, Daniel Clow and J. S. Lee. The case will probably conclude this evening. C. E. Pierce appears for the state, and J. B. Doe, Jr., for the defendant.

—The charity ball, to be given by the members of the Janesville Sack company on Thursday evening of next week, promises to be one of the largest entertainments of the kind ever given in Janesville. Each member of the company is canvassing for the sale of tickets, and the committee think over five hundred will be disposed of. They are now arranging to get the ladies interested by which means they hope to dispose of more tickets and make a greater success of the entertainment.

—The ladies having charge of the fair at Cannon's hall wish to correct an idea that seems to prevail, at least with the editors, that the articles which they offer for sale are contributed from our merchants. Undoubtedly these gentlemen would have so responded if we had solicited such favors, but in these hard times we will only ask that they give us good bargains when we come to buy. The home articles are the gifts of the society and a few lady friends. The others are all imported goods for which we pay.

—The Racine county people have a queer way of giving a newly married couple a "warm reception." This from the Racine Journal: "Mr. Fred Stueckler, of Mt. Pleasant, who was married about one week ago, returned with his bride yesterday, from a wedding tour, and immediately took possession of their new home. Last night they received a warm reception at the hands of young men and boys, who turned out en masse to clarify them. Windows were broken, guns fired at the house, the house stoned, a board placed over the chimney, and other depredations committed. Mr. Stueckler will have the ringleaders arrested."

—Mr. O. E. Bowles, the real estate agent in the Jackson & Smith block, has recently made some important real estate transfers, a few of which we mention as follows: The eighty acre farm owned by the heirs of John Jackson, conveyed to James Barfield for $3,500; Twenty-nine and a half acres of land adjoining blind institute, sold to Samuel Knight, for $2,100. Nice acre at southeast 1/4, section 2, city, the property of Dr. Molony, sold to P. Karney for $585; lot 3, in block 42, Smith's addition, to John A. Collins, price $120; eighty acres of land in section 3, Janesville, conveyed by Alfred Atwood to B. D. Wixom, the purchase price being $2,400. This contradicts the dull trade theories of the "chickens."

—This afternoon, shortly after one o'clock, a large black dog made its appearance at the passenger depot of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad. The dog was "frothing" at the mouth, and acted very strangely, causing a great stampede of the people in that vicinity. The dog finally took possession of the baggage room, and a sufficient number of the frightened people collected together, exchanging opinions regarding the actions of the strange canine, the majority insisting that the dog was mad, and ought to be dispatched. At this Mr. Mike Watson seized an axe and boldly entered the fort. After a brief encounter he emerged from the door bearing the news that the dog was no more. Many were of the opinion that the dog had been eating arsenic, and was about ready to give up when it appeared at the depot.

—Many stories are related about the sagacity of dogs and how they frequently undertake long and tedious journeys on foot, to find the old home from which, by various causes, they have been separated. Mr. J. B. Doe, Jr., of the first ward, is the owner of a dog, and "thereby hangs a tale." About the time of the democratic national convention the dog disappeared; he had never evidenced any very strong political preferences although educated in a family of pronounced opinions. The supposition was that he had gone off with the St. John movement, and as he failed to come back after the defeat of the third party candidate, the conclusion was reached that he was hopelessly lost. He was a dog of more than ordinary instinct, however, and after a five months' cruise, he appeared on the upper bridge one day last week, looking in all directions for a familiar face. He was soon recognized as a former resident of the first ward. The dog is home again and efforts will be made to have him campaign in season home in 1895.

NEW DANCES.

For the Social Season of 1894-5. Society never tires of dancing, says the State Journal. It is an amusement which runs on from generation to generation, its features simply undergoing changes and improvements proportionate to the advancement made in it. Prof. A. B. Severance, of Milwaukee, who regularly teaches the younger class of Madison the beauties of the graceful art each season, gives some interesting information on the terpsichorean subject. Through the agency of an organization of dancing masters, new dances travel from one end of the country to the other in a very short space of time. This organization bears the name of the American society of professors of dancing, and includes in its membership the most prominent teachers of the terpsichorean art in all the leading cities of the United States. When any member of the society has prepared a new dance, he submits it to the general body, for inspection and criticism. If it is decided that the innovation has merit it is adopted by the society, and it is then in a fair way to be taught in all the academies over which the members of the society preside. The "excelsior waltz" and the "waltz quadrille (special)" are two brand new dances which are considered likely to attain great popularity. When the "society waltz" was first introduced it was thought highly of, but it gradually lost its tone because the slight rolling motion with which it was originally danced was gradually exaggerated so as to render it objectionable. Not only was the dance thus corrupted, but it was given undue and plebeian names, such as "the telephone," "the sick," "the scump," etc., which were of themselves almost sufficient to relegue it to oblivion, or at least to banish it from refined assemblies. The "excelsior," it is believed, will correct all this. In the "excelsior" there will be a slide without extravagance, and then a revolution with the redoubt step, which can be made either first or last. The slide movement will be with a step similar to that of the galop. The "waltz quadrille" is considered certain to become immensely popular. There is a class of dancers who dance every kind of waltz with precisely the same step. The "waltz quadrille" danced by this misguided class, consists in swinging the lady and then spinning around, but this is not the way the best society dances it. In the new waltz quadrille, the couples waltz all around the set, instead of balancing. Each figure is gone through four times, the same as the old dance, but the figures are different. The heads lead to right, partners are changed, and then the dancers resume their places. The partners are changed again, and everybody waltzes. Another of the terpsichorean discoveries of the present season is, that the ladies can be pleasantly danced with eight couples. The head classes from right to left diagonally, not forward and back, as formerly, and all the couples will be in motion at the same time. It is among the probabilities which amount to certainties that the usual crop of new figures for the german, will be brought out.

Who Now Unknown Will Take $130,000. The little tassel of thousands of all sorts and conditions of people with fortune, will take place at New Orleans, La., on Tuesday, December 10th, 1894, when General G. J. B. Beauregard, of Louisiana, and Julia A. Early, of Virginia, will jointly but freely surrender $250,000 among the fortunate ticket holders of The Louisiana State Lottery, at the Grand Semi-annual (Richmond) Drawing, of which "M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, La." is prepared to give any information desired.

Personal.

—Miss Annie Kent, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Kent, who has been visiting friends in Freeport, Illinois, returned home last evening.

—Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Parker, nee Bemis and Mrs. J. B. Bemis, of St. Louis, Mo., are in the city the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Pool, on North Jackson street, first ward.

—Mrs. A. J. Ray and her daughter Fannie, who have been visiting in North Adams, Massachusetts, for several weeks, just start for home to-night, and will reach here on Friday.

—Mrs. Silas Hayner, of the first ward, returned home from Chicago last evening. She spent a week in one of the hospitals of the city with her little boy, who accompanied her for treatment. The visit impressed her mind with the fact that Chicago hospitals are better adapted to surgical operations than they are to first class boarding house facilities. The table fare offers no inducements for dyspepsia, and very little in any other direction.

—Judge D. H. K. Whitcomb, of Holdrege, Phelps county, Nebraska, formerly of Janesville, and father of Mr. Dwight C. Whitcomb, formerly of this city, is visiting with local county friends. Judge Whitcomb's wife recently died at Holdrege. The town of Holdrege is dubbed the "Magic City," and in one year has grown from nothing to 3,500 people, with two banks, two hotels, two big elevators, and lots of stores. This resulted from the location of a station by the Burlington, Quincy and Missouri railway. Mr. Whitcomb and his children are among the lucky land owners whose property is made very valuable by the growth of the village.—Bolt's Free Press.

SAVED FROM FIRE.

The Baptist Sale a Great Success.—An Elegant Display of Articles—A Good Supper—Warm Congratulations—A Fine Gathering and a Pleasant Time.

Many people who stood about the burning church, at the corner of Jackson and Pleasant streets, one cold night last January, helpless to save from the devouring element, the house made sacred by years of toil, and sacrifice, turned away from the smoldering ruins, with a feeling of genuine sympathy and sorrow. It was soon apparent, that while the house was gone, the society remained, and the closing of the year, finds on the old foundation, a new and handsome church building, with the living rooms completed, and the audience room well under way.

This result has been attained by untiring zeal, and faithful work, in which the ladies of the church have taken an active part. The latest, and one of the most successful efforts, culminated last evening at Cannon's hall, and was known as "The Baptist sale." One gentleman who attended, went home a little disappointed, he seemed to be laboring under the impression, that some of the Baptist were to be sold, or else some of the patrons would be taken in, but when he left the hall at ten o'clock, he said there were full as many representatives of the church as when he went in, and every body seemed delighted with their investment of time and money. How his mind became impressed with such an idea, is no less a mystery than the result of the late election.

We were tolerably certain of one thing yesterday, and to-day we are absolutely sure of another fact.

The first is, that Thomas A. Hendricks will be the next president, and the second, that the entertainment given by the ladies of the Baptist church at Cannon's hall last night, was a grand success. Two long rows of tables running down one side of the hall, were loaded with tempting eatables, including hot oysters, served by the popular caterer, Mr. George Shurtliff.

The hall was very handsomely decorated, and furnished with a choice stock of domestic and foreign articles, both useful and ornamental, which found a ready sale. One of the pleasant features of the evening was the fact that the various churches in the city were well represented, and expressions of congratulation were frequently heard. The Baptist church have saved from the fire enough, in the way of money, zeal, and christian enterprise, to present to the city a new church, equaling the old one for convenience, and far surpassing it, in architectural beauty.

To the ladies of the society, should be credited, in no stinted measure, much that has been accomplished. The height of their ambition will be gratified, in presenting at their dedicatory service next spring, a temple of worship free from incumbrance, in a service that will be closed by a simple benediction prefaced by an inspiring service with the usual subscription paper left out.

The sale at Cannon's hall, has this sublime finale in view. It will be continued this afternoon and evening.

Wm. Nichols, Chester, Mass., says Athlophoros has relieved his rheumatism more than anything he ever tried.

Don't neglect your cough! Ayer's Cherry Pectoral will quickly cure it and prevent consumption.

—Mr. Colby is enjoying a visit with his mother.

—Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Smith, of Victor, Iowa, have returned to their home after a pleasant visit with their relatives.

—A daughter was duly installed at J. D. Jayne's house last week.

—H. J. Boutly has lately returned from a three month's visit in New York. Mrs. Spangley has been visiting in Whitewater.

—Mrs. Wilder came down from Waukesha county last week to visit her daughter.

—Mrs. J. B. Slesbee and Miss Katie, were at Holdrege's last week.

—We are pleased to hear that Mr. Henry Anderson is again able to come down town.

—The air smells of a wedding—to be. Someone said "wolf" to Fred. Gould one day last week and he started out like a dog for a rat. When he returned he said he saw one squirrel and that did not wait to be shot at.

DEMOCRATIC LOVE-PEAST.

Prominent Guests at an Indiana Farmer's Jubilee.

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 10.—A large company of Democrats gathered Tuesday at the residence of Richard B. Snyder, Esq., a wealthy Democrat living near Crawfordville. Among the most prominent of the guests were Hon. Thomas A. Hendricks, ex-Senator McDonald, Secretary of the State, Myers, and Hon. Rayless W. Hanna. Mr. Snyder prepared a sumptuous feast, with everything that the home and foreign markets offered in dry and liquid state. After the feast Hon. B. W. Hanna made brief remarks, introducing Vice President Hendricks, who was received with marked demonstrations of satisfaction. He was announced to respond to the toast given by Mr. Hanna: "T. A. Hendricks—Patric, Orator and Statesman." In speaking, Mr. Hendricks gave a very handsome compliment to his host and hostess. In an allusion to his political life, he said he had never had any very great desire to hold the office that had been given him, except that of governor. That position, he said, he had desired to hold. He also spoke of the advisability of having two parties in the country, and made a slight reference to the policy of the party in regard to the official patronage to be bestowed upon the country. Hon. McDonald could be found to be depended upon. Mr. McDonald's speech was mainly devoted to his early life in Montgomery county, near the home of the host. Secretary of State Myers also made a brief address. The party then returned to Crawfordville, where brief addresses were made by both Hendricks and McDonald in the court house. The latter gentleman, with all the Indianapolis party, returned to the city on the night train.

A LIBEL ON THE LADY.

Dental of the Terrible Story About Miss Horan, of Whitewater, Wis.

CHICAGO, Dec. 10.—The Inter Ocean has a telegram from Whitewater, Wis., referring to the statement that Miss Nettie Horan had poisoned her whole family, and then in fear of discovery attempted to poison herself. The telegram is as follows: "The statement in the papers of the very startling tragedy as reported to have occurred here is largely a fiction. Miss Nettie, or correctly Nellie Horan, is alive and reasonably well. She has taken no poison, and has made no admission nor confession of any kind, nor crime. On account of some suspicious or supposed suspicious circumstances in connection with her sister's recent and death, more recent doctors, an investigation is being held. It is true that the authorities are causing an analysis to be made of the stomach and contents of the sister just deceased. We are now waiting the result of such chemical analysis."

R. G. Horvath, M. D., from E. D. Coe, editor of The Register, is to the same effect, and says the girl asserts her innocence. The examination of the stomach of her sister has not yet been concluded.
